

May 8, 2020

Jackson County Public Health, the District Attorney's Office and the Jackson County Sheriff's Office would like to thank all of our citizens and business owners for your cooperation, your patience, and your compliance during this COVID-19 pandemic. This has been a difficult and confusing time for all of us, and after months of economic hardship and other disruptions to our lives, we understand tensions are running high, patience is wearing thin, and we are all ready for this to be over.

That being said, Governor Evers' current order is in effect until May 26, 2020. Therefore, we ask for your continued voluntary compliance with the orders as they stand today in regards to mass gatherings and business operations.

The Sheriff's Office and Public Health officials will continue to respond to violations of the current orders and will take appropriate action based on the specific facts of each incident. We are aware that the Wisconsin Supreme Court is currently reviewing Governor Evers' Safer at Home order, and we are monitoring the situation closely. If the current orders are changed, we will alter our procedures accordingly and make the community aware of those changes.

As public officials we are entrusted to make every effort to keep the citizens of Jackson County safe and healthy. Please know that this has been and will remain our number one priority, through the end of this pandemic and beyond. Stay safe and be well.

Sincerely,

Duane M. Waldera
Sheriff, Jackson County

Daniel S. Diehn
District Attorney, Jackson County

Ellen Moldenhauer
Health Officer, Jackson County

Ray Ransom
County Board Chairman, Jackson County
